

West Orange Chronicle

October, 2000

B.A.C.I. Enterprises, Inc. Celebrates a Successful 1st Year Anniversary

One year ago Beth Iacullo did what many individuals only dream of doing—she began her own home-based business. It required her high-quality administrative skills, outgoing personality and determination to create a “Virtual Office Services” company. And today she has an impressive list of clients to prove her success. “I provide the convenience of virtual secretarial services to businesses and individuals from my home based office. Not everyone has a need or the means for a full time administrative staff, so I have found that my services are a necessity, especially in todays economy” says Beth.

Within the past year the company has become so successful that her husband Carmine has now joined in. While Beth provides the administrative services for the company, Carmine provides the computer and Web-site services. Employed full time by the West Orange Board of Education as the Webmaster and computer technician, Carmine has an extensive list of his own clients.

Having spent 14 years in Corporate America as an Executive Assistant, Beth has no regrets for not doing this sooner “ Without the experience that I gained or the people that I met throughout my career, I would never be capable of all that I’m doing today. And after spending all of those years working for just one company at a time, I am now capable of providing my services to numerous clients simultaneously.”

The company will soon be expanding into marketing and publicity services due to the high response and inquiries that they have received thus far.

Appropriately named, B.A.C.I. Enterprises, Inc., which stands for Beth And Carmine Iacullo, you can find out more information by accessing their website at www.baci.ws or calling 973-736-4290.

